PARCEL POST FAILS IN A VITAL RESPECT

Chicago Postmaster Points to Deficiency in Present System and Suggests Needed Changes.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—The parcel post system has grown to such enormous proportions as to be a wonder of the business world, has thus far failed to meet expectations and hopes in one respect, the bringing out of cooperation between the farmer and the city man and the elimination of the "middle man." The amount of food products that are shipped from the agricultural districts by parcel post was declared today by Postmaster Campbell to be hardly worth considering. The parcels post has not operated to reduce the cost of living.

Before the parcel post becomes a medium of direct communication between the producer and the consumer in the city, the following conditions must be brought about according to Postmaster Campbell:

Increase in weight allowed by the government.

Quicker dispatch in handling perishable goods.

Special facilities such as icing for protecting perishable goods.

Special facilities at postoffice for loading and unloading farm products.

Increased rates in special delivery of perishable goods is demanded.

Cooperation of farmers in the establishment of shipping facilities on the farm.

Cooperation of farmers in establishing a demand for their products in the home insuring a permanent market.

Cooperation of education for the farmers in the matter of scientific packing.

CATARRH SUFFERERS

Get Immediate and Effective Relief by Using Hyomei.

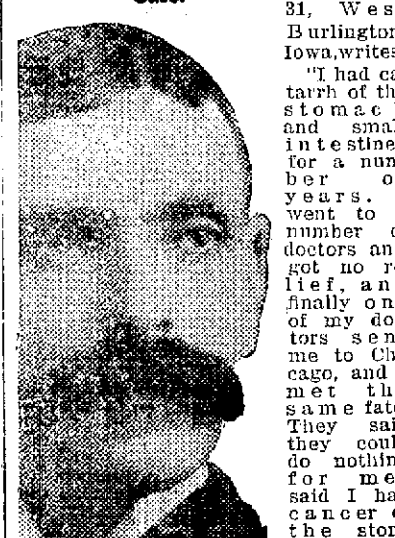

Hyomei is nature's true remedy for catarrh. There is no stomach dosing you breathe it.

When using this treatment, you breathe healing balsams and effectively reach the most remote air cells of the throat, nose and lungs, the catarrhal germs are destroyed—quick and sure relief results.

Hyomei often restores health to chronic cases that had given up all hope of recovery. Its best action is at the start of the disease when the breath is becoming offensive, and constant sniffing, discharges from the nose, droppings in the throat, or that choked up feeling begin to make life a burden. At the first symptom of catarrhal trouble, surely use Hyomei. Ask Smith Drug Co. for the complete outfit, $1.00. They will refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

HAD CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Peruna Relieved a Serious Case.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd.

Mr. A. M. Ikerd, Box 31, West Burlington, Iowa, writes, "I had catarrh of the stomach for a number of years. I went to a number of doctors and got no relief, and finally one of my doctors sent me to Chicago, and I met the same fate. They said they could do nothing for me; said I had a case of the stomach and there was no cure. I almost thought the same, for my breath was offensive and I could not eat anything without great misery, and I gradually grew worse. Finally I concluded to try Peruna, and I found relief and a cure for that dreadful disease, catarrh. I took five bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin, and I now feel like a new man. There is nothing better than Peruna, and I keep a bottle of it in my house all the time."

It is a remarkable story that Mr. Ikerd tells. It is a true story, but very briefly told. If he put into his story all of the details it would make a chapter of suspense and agony, hope and final recovery, equal to the wildest fiction. Any one wishing to do so can write Mr. Ikerd and ascertain whether there has been any exaggeration in his case.

The "Bills of Life" will be sent free by addressing the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Those who object to liquid medicine can now procure Peruna Tablets.

THANKSGIVING DAY IS AN INHERITANCE FROM THE COLONIES

CHERISHED FESTIVAL FOUNDED
BY PLYMOUTH BRETHREN
AFTER FIRST HARVEST.

OBSERVANCES QUAIN

Entertained and Feasted Indians—
Religious Services Held Before Breakfast.

Thanksgiving day means turkey and pumpkin pie to the child, a time of cherished memories for family reunions to their parents and to the brothers and sisters, vacations for the student, and busy hours of joyous preparation to the housewife. To the devout it still retains its prime significance as a time for the offering of thanks for the blessings of Divine Providence, but few even of these are familiar with the origin and development of the great national holiday.

The prototype of our present Thanksgiving day is found in the harvest festival at Plymouth in 1621. The long winter that followed the establishment of the colony was so severe that less than half of the settlers had survived. At one time during the winter only seven, Standish, and five other hardy ones were well enough to get about.

In the spring and summer that followed, their fortunes improved, and by autumn they had cleared twenty-five acres and made ready for cultivation. This industry had been rewarded by a bounteous harvest. Now food and fuel sufficient for the needs of the approaching winter were laid in. Then Governor Bradford ordered a Thanksgiving in America.

This first Thanksgiving was not for a day only. It continued a week. In a letter to a friend in England, Edward Winslow has given us a brief account of the festivities. This letter bears date of December 11, and in it Winslow wrote:

"Our harvest being gotten in, our governor sent four men on fowling that so we might after special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruits of our labors. They killed as much fowl as with a little help beside served the company about a week. At which times among other recreations, we exercised our arms, many of the Indians coming amongst us, and among the rest their greatest king, Massasoit, with some ninety men, whom for three days we entertained and feasted, and they went out and killed five deer which they brought and bestowed on our governor, and upon the captains and others."

From other sources we know that there were athletic contests besides the exercises of arms which Winslow mentioned. No doubt they played at "stool ball," an old form of croquet, and "pitch-eye-bag," which Bradford mentioned in his journal. There were no special religious services, at least there is no evidence of any. The Pilgrims had their daily prayers before breakfast. In this service and in the joyous spirit that seems to have dominated the occasion as well, there was no doubt, a devout thanksgiving to God for all the blessings He had vouchsafed them.

Probable Origin.
The record made by William White in his "Breeches Bible" of 1858, when he came over in the Mayflower, has far more significance in determining the origin of our American Thanksgiving Day than the event at Monhegan. The record reads: "William White, married on ye 3rd day of March 1620, to Susannah Tilly, Peregrine White. Born on board ye Mayflower in Cape Cod harbor. Some born to Susanna White December 19, 1620. Six o'clock morning. The next day we met for prayer and thanksgiving."

This Thanksgiving was not on Sunday, but on Tuesday, says the New York Evening Post. The fact that it was not a part of the regular Sunday service makes it more nearly accord with our idea of Thanksgiving Day, than does the Monhegan event. But this similarity is not sufficient to warrant our regarding it as the origin of the American custom.

Thanksgiving in July.
The records make no mention of a Thanksgiving Day in 1622, but in the year following, such a day was held. This, however, was not in the autumn, but in July, on the arrival of provisions from England. Nearly fifty years pass before we hear of another Thanksgiving day at Plymouth. There was one in 1688, and another for the occasion of the Orange Stuarts, William and Mary, in 1689. An autumnal Thanksgiving was held in 1690, the last in the history of Plymouth colony. In the next year it was united with Massachusetts.

Independently of Plymouth, Massachusetts Bay colony occasionally had its own thanksgiving days. There was such a day for the "safe arrival of ships," July 8, 1630; and again the next February, when the provision ship, Ambrose, arrived.

Joint Celebration.
On June 5, 1632, the general court ordered a "public thanksgiving throughout the several plantations in recognition of the mercy of God vouchsafed to the churches of God in Germany, and the Palatinate." This seems to have been a joint celebration with Plymouth colony; when Governor Winthrop appointed this day for a Thanksgiving he asked the governor of Plymouth to join with Massachusetts in its observance.

lived of Rome and the episcopacy was held in great disfavor in Massachusetts. In 1634 emigrants from Massachusetts Bay settlement, Plymouth, Conn., and in the next year others from the same colony located at Windsor and Hartford. The desire for a democratic government in Massachusetts caused an exodus from that colony in 1636, and gave to Weatherfield, Windsor, and Hartford their chief bodies of immigrants.

Three years later, Aug. 26, 1639, "it was considered that there be a public day thanksgiving in these plantations upon the 15th of the next month."

It was not until 1644, five years later, that a second thanksgiving was ordered. A little interval of five years passed, then the second and third, but beginning with the third, ordered December 5, 1649, the festival was held with a good degree of regularity until the union with New Haven, 1652. It had evidently come to stay.

The New Haven colony settlements began in 1637. The early records are imperfect and the first published reference to the thanksgiving day bears date of October 15, 1655. Then, "the relation of baptized children to the church," which was finally settled by the Half-Way Covenant Scheme, issued by the synod in 1662. Because of this quarrel there was no thanksgiving day at New Haven in 1667, but there was one in 1668 and in each following year until the union with Connecticut.

Records of Rhode Island plantations make no mention of thanksgiving days until 1687. Sir Edmund Andros had been appointed governor of New England in 1686. His repressive measures soon made him extremely obnoxious to the colonists, and his orders "to celebrate certain days which he set apart as days of thanksgiving" were carried out so contemptuously that a number of persons were arrested for disobedience to the king's ordinances.

Dutch Began Early.
The Dutch celebrated Thanksgiving day almost from the beginning of their settlements. The first that is mentioned in their records is under date of 1664, when, because of gratitude for the safe return of the Dutch soldiers after a battle with the Connecticut Indians, a "thank day," as it was called, was celebrated.

In the year following that was another public thanksgiving day, following a treaty of peace with the Indians, and in 1654, when peace was established between themselves and England, there was still another.

Later, in 1694, Dominie Brown of Wiltwyck, asked that an annual thanksgiving day be established, but his efforts were unavailing. In 1754, a regular day was set aside, but it does not appear from the records that it was celebrated every year; however, for the short period between 1690 and 1710 there were few if any lapses.

Holiday Becomes National.
During the revolution Thanksgiving day became national. All through the year congress annually set apart a day for "thanksgiving," but after the "thanksgiving for peace" in 1783 there were no more until Washington became president in 1789. On October 3 of this year, at New York, he issued a proclamation asking the observance of Thursday, Nov. 26, as a day for national thanksgiving. This was the beginning of the orthodox "last Thursday" that has since been named in presidential proclamations.

By this time the festival had general official recognition throughout New England and in the year 1789, the Protestant Episcopal prayer books recognized the authority of the civil government in the appointment of thanksgiving days.

As the first new states of the west were quite generally settled from New England, the festival was perpetuated, and soon became a custom, not only in these but in other western states as they were formed.

Came Late to South.
In the south Thanksgiving day was practically unknown until 1855. In that year Governor Jones, of Virginia, sent a letter to the state legislature urging a recognition of the day that he might issue a proclamation for its observance; but he was advised that as most of the citizens of the state regarded this day as "a relic of Puritanical bigotry," he ought not to urge its observance.

Two years later Governor Wise, the successor of Jones, without asking advice of the legislature, issued a proclamation asking the people generally, throwing aside their prejudices, observe the day.

In the next year, 1858, eight governors of southern states issued proclamations after the model of New England, calling upon their people to observe the last Thursday in November as a day for thanksgiving. But the civil war was at hand, and the bitterness engendered in the long controversy over slavery caused many violent opponents of the north to oppose the proclamation, because of their introduction of a "Yankee custom."

When leaves come down
And coal goes up
And people all
Dig out their winter underwear
And gaze in tears on places where
The moths of summer got their eats.

Would go to autumn dinner-dance.

Pure, fine old Kentucky leaf, NIGGER HAIR is the kind of tobacco a man sticks to year in and year out, because it never fails to satisfy him and he never grows tired of it. NIGGER HAIR is made especially for the man whom an insipid tobacco does not satisfy.

If you like a rich, mellow, smooth flavored tobacco, NIGGER HAIR will give the greatest satisfaction and enjoyment of your tobacco experience, either as a cool, fragrant smoke, or a juicy, lasting, satisfying chew.

There's no tobacco made that can give a big, strong, husky man, with a man's size tobacco hunger, the same satisfaction and enjoyment he gets out of NIGGER HAIR.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Oh, we's had a heap o' talkin' 'bout de tariff an' its ways, An' dey say dey goin' to be some 'next year' 'bout de taxes dat he pays In a way dat's mighty sorrowful to hear. Dey tells us dat de money dat we's usin' jes' right, An' dey's allus findin' sumpin' new to blame. But we's keepin' up our courage an' a-lookin' for de light, An' we's ginter hab 'Thanksgivin' jes' de same.

Dere's botheration loose on every corner of de map; De rumors is a-flyin' trick an' fast; De ladies is a-votin' and dey doesn't keer a rap. Foh de clothes dat dey was wearin' in de past, It's cold up dar in Canada an' hot in Mexico. An' de way some folks is talkin' is a shame. But de troubles, dey ain't nuffin' to de blessin' dat we know, An' we's ginter hab 'Thanksgivin' jes' de same.

—Washington Star.

The sentiment expressed by the old colored brother, will be generally appreciated. For Thanksgiving comes but once a year, and the mind is indeed barren that can not find some cause for gratitude.

Thanksgiving day marks the close of a year, just as distinctively, in this country, as the thirty-first of December. The soil which has contributed so freely to national prosperity, is at rest and the trees of field and forest are in winter attire.

Barns and granaries are loaded with the fruits of toil, and the toilers find time for relaxation. The summary of the year, in the realm where God and nature have joined forces with human endeavor, is very satisfactory, and this is especially true so far as our own localities have suffered from drought and blight. Wisconsin has been free from nature's disasters, and the reward of the husbandman has been sure and ample.

There are some things connected with our economic conditions, which are not conducive to thankfulness, but the good Lord is not responsible for these conditions, and we can afford to forget them for a day, while we turn aside in grateful reverence.

As citizens of the best little city in the land, we have much for which to be thankful. We enjoy a clean and wholesome government, free from graft or political entanglements. Our business and commercial enterprises are in prosperous condition and the conservative policy long nursed fortifies us for a hopeful outlook for the future.

While many manufacturing centers are today perplexed with uncertainty, and smokeless chimneys and enforced idleness seem inevitable, we are spared as a community.

Every life, however, clouded, should be able to find some ray of light on Thanksgiving day. This busy world, so full of every day tragedies, is also full of kind-hearted people, and the spirit of the Master lies so close to the surface, that it is ever ready to minister.

The "good fellowship" movement, which the city of Chicago makes so much of at Christmas time, is prompted by a spirit which knows nothing about locality. It is as genial as the sunshine, and as widespread as the atmosphere, and every home and every life should share in the blessings on Thanksgiving day.

The trouble with people who complain about having no friends, and lack of appreciation is, that they shut themselves up like a clam-shell and then wonder why somebody don't break in. Some people go to church for a year and then complain because they don't know anybody. That's not the fault of the church.

As a people we have cause for national thanksgiving. We have demonstrated our ability to fight with Mexico, without bloodshed, and to keep the world guessing as to what we will do next.

With congress in continuous session we are proving that the vitality of national resources is equal to any strain, and in spite of tariff and all other kinds of regulation, the ship of state holds reasonably steady to her course.

We have added twenty years to our stature since the panic of 1893, and are better able to withstand the onslaught of busy reformers. For this we should be thankful. A check in the tide of prosperity is due, and if it comes, it may prove a blessing in disguise. At all events, the outlook should not mar the enjoyment of the national holiday tomorrow.

There seems to be no doubt if one reads the Washington dispatches tinged with the opinion of the administration and then looks over the Mexican reports tinged with the view of Huerta, that the two countries are still a long ways from reaching any solution of the problem of universal peace.

Copenhagen has approved of the Thursday the whole nation will observe the national holiday of Thanksgiving, a memorial service handed to us from the days of the Pilgrim Fathers who landed on the bleak New England shores and gave us the foundation of this nation dedicated to freedom.

Fourteen years for a Chicago chauffeur for running over a man and killing him! In most cities he could have shot him full of lead for a fraction of that term.

Every once in a while young men are reminded that they cannot be too careful to learn to love only the sort of girl who will not bring suit.

And why should the government assume the male stenographer is extinct merely because it can't find one willing to work for $840 a year?

It isn't difficult to guess where Secretary Lane got the information that "money can be handled more safely by women than by men."

Searching the newspapers day by day is beginning to pall on those having friends in Mexico or suspecting they may have.

Ortie McManigal has been released from prison on account of ill health. Is he going to open an office in Wall street, too?

Eating onions every day may be a perfectly good way to prolong life and even better way to spite one's heirs.

At least Mexico has equal suffrage. The men don't dare to vote and the women are not permitted to.

What is going to happen when they try to collect Tammany's income tax at the source?

It seems to be taking Senor Huerta longer than four women to say good-bye.

"Vests are to be worn by women." Well, they don't hook up the back anyway.

Talking about short skirts, that's nothing to the shortage in dressed beef.

BE THANKFUL.

The thankful heart is the glad heart. Lifted towards the Great Giver, From whom all peace and goodness flow, Like a gentle river.

Search the past year for blessings, You whose hearts are sad; You will certainly find something For which you should be glad.

This is true of your life and mine, "There will be sun and shade," Since the same kind hand presents Let them both.

If you believe God's promises, Show it in your face, Look not always on sin and woe; This world is a beautiful place.

As a flower bows in the tempest, But raises its face to the sun, Be as ready as it to feel gladness, When a storm in your life is done.

Then yet your glad heart be thankful, This is fitting and right, And express it in word and action, Thus your life will be still more bright.

—Esther Foster Hall.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Is the Housewife's Greatest Help.

WHAT so tempting to the laggard appetite as a light, flaky, fruit short cake or a delicate hot biscuit?

Royal makes the perfect short cake, biscuit and muffin, and improves the flavor and healthfulness of all risen flour-foods.

It renders the biscuit, hot-bread and short cake more digestible and nutritious, at the same time making them more attractive and appetizing.

Royal Baking Powder is indispensable for the preparation all the year round of perfect foods.

The World "Do Move." We believe there is a steadily growing sentiment in favor of the commission government for our city. Some members of the council have given the matter study and express themselves as willing to submit the matter to a vote of our citizens.—Whitewater Gazette.

Spark is Near Powder. If the administration plans be carried out there are grave fears of the destruction of the present national banking system. There seems to be hardly any doubt but that numerous national banks will surrender their charters instead of taking out state charters as savings and commercial banks. The national banking system has stood the test of fifty years, and admitting some changes might be made to conform to a greater country, the system should be preserved in all its integrity.—Racine Journal News.

Reaction in Minnesota. Minnesota has grown tired of her cumbersome and expensive system of "government by commission" and a committee is now in session in St. Paul to consider a way of reorganizing the state government. Minnesota has forty-six commissions, state boards and bureaus and 13 state departments. All of this complicated machinery is very expensive just as it is in Wisconsin, only the Minnesota people have not been cursed to quite as great an extent with the progressive desire to try every wild and unheard of scheme to burden the people. But they have had enough of this lunacy to make them want to secure a simpler and less expensive state government. The reaction against a government of "wild asses" has set in. It is time it manifested itself in Wisconsin.—Jefferson County Union.

QUEEN LILUOKALANI'S

HAWAIIAN SEXTETTE

A real Honolulu act on a tour of this country.

SEE THE FASCINATING HULA DANCE

That the management of the APOLLO THEATRE is always in quest of novelties is evidenced by the fact that for the first time in the history of Janesville a Hawaiian act will grace the vaudeville boards.

The act in question "Queen Liliuokalani's Royal Hawaiian Sextette" is a product of Honolulu, the capital of the lovely stretch of islands in the Mid-Pacific, which enjoys the unique distinction of being Uncle Sam's only territory.

The Sextette was all the rage on the Pacific Coast where they played for several months prior to invading the middle west. In Chicago and St. Louis the troupe played to very large audiences, always pleasing with their melodious singing and the fascinating hula dance, the native dance of the islands.

Besides being singers and dancers these people are instrumentalists of no mean ability, and introduce a novelty in their "steel" playing in which they extract beautiful and harmonious music from a guitar with the use of a piece of steel, hence the name. "Steel" music is only heard in Hawaiian acts, it being originated by the dark hued Americans whose home is in the Pacific ocean, 2000 miles from San Francisco, of earthquake and fair fame.

The troupe which consists of four boys and two girls, sings American as well as songs in their mother tongue. This unique company of entertainers will be seen at the Apollo Theater commencing Thursday afternoon (Thanksgiving Day.)

CORN CONTESTANTS' EXHIBIT RETURNED

Plan to Exhibit Them at the Interna-

Contestants in the recent corn contest conducted by the Gazette and the International Live Stock Show at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago, which opens next week, has been found impracticable and the various contestants can obtain their ten sample ears by calling at the Gazette office.

It had been planned to have the whole exhibit sent to Chicago to show the stock raisers of the country what a fertile county good old Rock really was, but the following letter from Mr. Heide, secretary and general superintendent of the big show, shows that there is no exhibit of this kind at the show, and consequently the idea was dropped. Mr. Heide writes:

Replying to your inquiry of the 24th inst. I beg to state that we have no exhibit of grains, but may add that department to our exposition at some future time.

I am indeed pleased to learn that your corn contest was such a grand success, and also desire to thank you for your interest in this exposition.

GINK AND DINK. YOU WOULD NEVER CATCH PETEY HUNTING FOR LOST MONEY.

Sport Snap Shots

One of the greatest delights of football as a means of passing the time pleasantly is the wide field and many chances it offers the deponents. Baseball, it is true, is fascinating and there are many who love to pore over and figure out how many hits O'Grady will get next week if it doesn't rain. But football in this regard has not a rival among all our outdoor distractions. Any plucky votary with a real agile imagination can figure out how Riffraff university beat Yale by a score of at least 70 to 0. By the dope that is. Thus: Riffraff beat Hiram, Hiram trimmed Vanderbilt, made 126 doubles, or what you might call two-baggers. Sam Crawford led with the stick, having four homers, four triples and ten doubles to his credit. The world's record for doubles—or mighty near it—was made at Joplin, where the tourists swatted seventeen of 'em. Which is done very well indeed in one afternoon.

Now that John Kinley Tener has been offered and has accepted the presidency of the National league, it might be well to turn back a few pages in baseball history and study his career as a ball player. After Tener was out of school he worked as a clerk, but his health was none too good and doctors advised that he engage himself in outdoor pursuits and gather more of the red corpuscles. Accordingly John worked into the baseball profession after having gained some little rep as a semi-pro player around Pittsburg. He had been pitching Saturday afternoon games at $5 a performance when he got his first professional job at the national pastime with the Pittsburg club playing first base. At that time he had regained considerable of his lost health and was weighing 200 pounds and standing 6 feet 3 inches in his neivest car. So you see he grew into quite a husky person. But Tener didn't seem to score very heavily with the Pittsburg management and was released before the season was half over, going to Baltimore. Here again he was released—this time at his own request—joining the Haverhill (Mass.) team, with which he played till the close of the season. Cap Anson, then managing the Chicago White Stockings, happened to be present once while Tener was performing and gave him a job at pitching. Tener stuck with the White Stockings for three seasons, making the world tour with them, at the end of which he brought a halt to his baseball career, never to return to the diamond. Since that time—over two decades—Tener has not handled a baseball, in a professional way at least, and he devoted his entire time to business and of course to the negotiating of gubernatorial chores in Pennsylvania.

Three-baggers and home runs are being had in abundance on the world tour of the White Sox and the Giants. The two teams during their month or so in the west before sailing for Japan made more homers than the average hard-hitting ball club would in a whole season. And the reason isn't because they got easier pitching, because they batted against some of our best major league twirlers. The answer is that they played in small town ball parks where the outfield fences were considerably nearer the batter than is usually the case in the big league parks. During their western tour they drove the ball over the short field fences just twenty-three times. They then twined just twenty-one triples by driving the ball into the farthest corners of the lot. They Vanderbilt tied Penn. Penn. scored on Dartmouth, Dartmouth walloped Colgate and Colgate beat Yale. The foregoing is simply hypothetical and only pretends to show how the deponents do. It's one of the most popular of pursuits at this time of year. And in this way every team in the country is able to trim the best football outfit of the season.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

It is rumored at Hanover that Dartmouth will not play the Carlisle Indians next year. New York University has not scored a point all season and its opponents have made 154 in seven games. When it comes to travel, Yale traveled in 1912, Carlisle and Notre Dame stand at the top of the college elevens. Both Holy Cross and Georgetown have made good records this year and are in tip-top condition for their game on Thanksgiving Day. The Auburn team which beat Vanderbilt, 14 to 6, this season, has been playing the Commodores for twenty years, in which time they had previously not won even a single game.

On Southern Gridirons. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 26.—Collegiate football, with all its noisy trimmings, banners and screaming co-eds, will close its season in the South tomorrow, with nearly all of the prominent elevens in action. Vanderbilt and Sewanee will clash at Charlotte and Virginia and North Carolina will come together for their annual battle at Richmond. Florida and Mercer are to play at Gainesville. South Carolina and Clemson will meet at Columbia. Washington and Lee and North Carolina Agricultural at Norfolk. Chattanooga and Georgetown College at Chattanooga. Tulane and Arkansas at New Orleans. Kentucky State and Tennessee at Lexington. Louisiana State and Texas A. and M. at Houston.

Farther north, Georgetown will meet Holy Cross in Washington, and Johns Hopkins will play St. John's in Baltimore.

Cornell and Pennsylvania. New York, Nov. 26.—The annual gridiron battle between Pennsylvania and Cornell on Franklin Field will furnish the principal item on the Thanksgiving menu served up to football enthusiasts in the East. What ever showing these two teams may make during the season they seldom fail to put up an interest contest when they come together at the wind-up of their season's schedules. Despite the fact that victory has perched on the Cornell banner but once during the twenty years that she has faced Pennsylvania on the gridiron, the I-taca team has strong hopes of one tomorrow. In the opinion of most critics the two elevens are more evenly matched than in many years.

Other teams that will meet on Eastern gridirons tomorrow are Brown and Carlisle at Providence. Lafayette and Dickinson at Easton, and Tufts and Deacon College at Boston.

IMPORTANT GRIDIRON CONTESTS THURSDAY

Thanksgiving Day Will End College Football Season—Only One Game in Middle West.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving Day game tomorrow will bring to an end the college football season with only one contest of great importance scheduled for the middle west. An international game at St. Louis between Syracuse and St. Louis university will furnish the principal attraction. Another contest of interest to this section, however, will be the game at Austin, Texas, between Notre Dame and the University of Texas. The Notre Dame team is a favorite of the college football fans. The Army and Penn State elevens, Texas, however, is credited with having the strongest team in the South-west this season and the contest between the two is expected to furnish some good sport.

EDLER SELECTED ON LITTLE FIVE ELEVEN

Janesville Athlete, at Beloit, College Attains High Honor for a Freshman.—Is Star Half-back.

Raymond Edler, star football, basketball and baseball man, who graduated from the local high school in June, and who entered Beloit College this fall as a freshman, has made an enviable reputation with the line city football eleven. Critics, in selecting the all-star team of the Little Five Conference, have placed him as the best right half-back in the conference. Edler showed remarkable form all year, and despite the fact that he only played part of each game, on the second set of backs, his ability was superior to any of his competitors on the Beloit eleven or any other opposing eleven. Dunmore, of Lake Forest, is given the honor as the other halfback, perhaps above Edler. Other Beloit men who made the selection are: Tracy, center; Aidman, left end, and Guarriety, fullback. Coach Evans has played Edler perhaps one-third of the time this fall. In the Lawrence game he was strong, both offensively and on defense. Last Saturday he contributed a touch-down, warding off four Lake Forest tucklers, in an attempt to reach the goal. He knows the game in every respect, and should prove a mainstay on the college eleven in the next few years to come. In basketball he ranks among the best. He intends to be out for a place on the Beloit five this winter. Every indication points to his name being placed on the first football selection. Coach Evans is proud of his find.

REGULARS TO PLAY SOPHOMORE ELEVEN ON THANKSGIVING

Windup of Season Will Be Fierce Combat at Driving Park Tomorrow.

The windup of the 1913 football season for the Janesville high school will come tomorrow, when the regular squad faces the champion sophomores in what is sure to be a hard fought battle. Of course the regulars are the favorites at present, because it is said they play better football than the second year men. The fact is, they should, after being coached all fall, but Catch Copley of the sophs, is sure his men will give their opponents a stiffer contest than they may be anticipating. A large crowd is expected at tomorrow's contest because of it being played on turkey day. Last Thanksgiving the game was the state championship at Oshkosh. Fans in former years turned out to see their high school favorites in action, and just because the eleven this year has had luck against them should not lead anyone to believe that the eleven are poor. They are a fast aggregation, and too much has been expected of them this year. The material at the first of the year was only centered around possibly four really good men. The sophs, on the other hand, are full of scrappy players, with good first-class material. The game will be called at two-thirty, or as soon after as possible.

Turkeys will be served at all of the city and county institutions and charitable institutions were busy yesterday and today distributing thousands of Thanksgiving baskets of food to the poor. UNCLE SAM OFFERING BID FOR MUCH TRADE

Consular Department of the Government Proves Efficient Agency for This Purpose.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, Nov. 26.—Every civilized land is strenuously engaged nowadays in boosting foreign trade. The United States is in the game in dead earnest. The great nations today are the commercial nations. The foreign trade of Great Britain is about five billions of dollars a year, and that of the United States now about $4,000,000,000, is gaining on it steadily. In the promotion of the export business of this country the State Department has accomplished a great deal, mostly through the consular service, and the President is desirous of extending our commerce to a further degree. He has approved of a proposition to establish a corps of consular agents at foreign capitals, with the idea that they shall work in conjunction with the consuls. If the right kind of men shall be sent abroad this plan will prove of great advantage to American exporters. Germany has already has the best system of this kind at the present, and her foreign trade is going ahead by leaps and bounds.

Since the Consular Service was put under civil service regulations it has greatly improved, and a better class of men has been sent to foreign countries. Some of the older consuls probably ought to be removed for the good of the service, but on the other hand, Congress should provide some form of retirement for consuls, who receive but a modest rate of pay and can hardly keep up the appearance demanded of them by the Government and lay aside anything on which to retire. They should be treated as well as the Army and Navy, at least. As has been lately remarked, the efforts of the consular corps and the international expositions held from time to time are among the greatest agencies in the extension of foreign commerce. The Panama-California Exposition in 1915 will bring a great many European visitors to this country and they will not only visit the exposition, but will do business with the country. The whole United States will be an "exhibit" for our guests from abroad in 1915.

Trade Agencies Abroad. American trade agencies have been formed abroad one of the first of these being the American Chamber of Commerce in Paris, founded in 1894. Since then other similar organizations have been formed at Berlin, Nuremberg, and other cities. It is proposed for Rio de Janeiro. The work being accomplished by such institutions is beneficial to the trade of the United States through promoting closer relations with foreign consumers. Such organizations are taking an active interest in the Panama-California Exposition, realizing that foreign visitors who may be induced to visit this and other expositions in this country, will be impressed with the progress of our manufacturing interests.

The study of foreign commerce is both interesting and profitable. This country furnishes three-fourths of the raw cotton grown in the entire world, yet the biggest trade in cotton cloths is enjoyed by such countries as England, Germany, France, and, to a great extent, Japan. Still, apples from Oregon, Maine and New York are sold in every capital in Europe. The dried fruits and nuts of the Pacific coast are shipped all over the world, the tobacco of Maryland is supplied to the smokers of France, and the radium ores of the United States form the principal source of supply for radium of the world. Distance is growing to be less and less of a bar to commerce. When the Panama Canal is opened in 1915 it will have become still less of an obstacle, and new trade routes via Panama will be opened to the greater part of the world's shipping. What this will mean to the United States few have the foresight to realize. It will open up new markets for the products of the far west along the shores of the Atlantic, and new markets for the products of Europe and the eastern coast of America on the shores of the Pacific.

Most Persistent Nuisance.

The person of a fixed idea may always easily become a nuisance, but never more so than when the fixed idea is petty and monstrous selfishness. Besides which, individual troubles are never to be made a boast of, and especially not when there is good reason for believing many of them to be self-caused, even if not actually invented.

"PIRATES" VEHICLE OF LILLIAN RUSSELL

Famous Actress Once Appeared in Comic Opera to Be Presented Here Tomorrow by Treble Clef.

Lillian Russell, who appeared in Janesville last evening in a vaudeville role, once carried a part in "The Pirates of Penzance," the comic opera to be presented at the Myers theatre tomorrow evening by the Treble Clef of Beloit. In fact she made her debut as a star as Mabel in this production, staged by the McCaull Opera company. The opera was a great success in its day and its revival in a recent performance at Beloit showed that it still had the power to please a public weary and sufficed with productions that fall far below it in music and libretto. The Treble Clef has given the parts to its most talented members who have performed the Beloit press speak very highly.

CELEBRATE FIRST WEDDING ANNIVERSARY LAST NIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Max Plantiko, residing on West Milwaukee street, celebrated their first wedding anniversary at their home last evening, twenty guests helping to make the event a merry one.

The parlors of the home were decorated with ferns, carnations and autumn leaves. One of the novelties of the evening was a mock wedding, the bride and groom being the lucky ones to find a ring hidden in the wedding cake. Dancing, cards and games formed the evening's entertainment and light refreshments were served.

Rather Cramped.

What Would You Give For Health?

There are Thousands of People Who Haven't Known What Health Means. Are you one of them? Chiropractic Points the Way to Perfect Health. Investigate it!

You cannot expect help in your malady unless you help yourself. If you hesitate about seeing "The Chiropractor" J. N. Imlay, because you have not been helped by medicine and the potions of the doctors, you will not hasten your recovery. Don't hesitate another day. Every day you wait makes your suffering just that much longer.

WHAT CHIROPRACTIC IS:

Chiropractic is one of the sciences. It deals with the spinal column and the nervous system of the body. It has been demonstrated that when the spine is out of line the nervous system cannot properly perform its functions and disease results. It is the object of Chiropractic to overcome this derangement in the spine and when this is done perfect harmony results throughout all parts of the body. That means perfect health.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Nov. 26, 1873.—Wrecked Cargo: A youth from the agricultural districts essayed to reach town this morning mounted on a basket full of sharp edged nails with a basket full of eggs in his hands. But the mare had been stalled for this past month and the keen November air had imbued her with unwonted friskiness which was disastrous to the tender products of the poultry yard. Clinging with one hand to the bridle rein and with the other to his empty basket the boy entered town with the taste of a wild Modoc, but his parents would scarcely recognize him as he was so much discolored in the liquid contents of his basket. The highway for a mile back was strewn with fragments of his wrecked cargo and the boy fell really sad over his misfortune. He had been saving those eggs all summer to obtain money to gain an education for the ministry, but he said he would be damned if he would try again. The hens were all worn out and there is no further attempt to rise in the world. It was rather a discouraging circumstance, but we could see no reason to be profane about the matter. He should remember that boys who swear do not make good ministers.

The "Awkward Squad" of last winter is preparing for the coming amusement season. Once they were a squad as the name indicates—ungraciously, flat-footed, regular toe-crushers and trait-destructors. Now they are an embodiment of grace—their boots fitting them and they can skirlish around a lady in full dress without musing a rifle.

The editor of the Beloit Free Press read in an exchange that salted wood lasts longer than the ordinary variety. Thinking that this discovery applies to fuel, the editor has bought a bag of salt and wants some one to donate the education for the ministry, but he said he would be damned if he would try again.

FOOTBALL HEROES

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "Al Good and Bunch"

AT this time of the year a careful search throughout the country will disclose a great many heroes.

The task would be much more difficult this month than last. Last month the mighty calculator of the oval pigskin could be detected with little or no effort both through the eye and the ear. By following the loudest noise in any college town the football hero would eventually be located ploughing his glorious way through the serried and dismembered foe.

Even after the game the job was easy. Whenever two or three college students were gathered together in an attitude of awe, a football champion could generally be discovered in the act of doing something interesting—tying his shoe-lace or talking with the college president.

Today the keen-eyed detective would demand higher wages for the task of running down the football talent. He might discover the football hero at last, but he would not find him on the field, swathed in him in the class room, tangled in the raveled threads of calculus, logic and English literature.

The football hero is just as great a man today as he was last month.

but he does not work at it so hard. His studies interfere for one thing, and for another the student body is nervous and pre-occupied over the college prom, the prospects for the football team, and other foreign subjects.

Later on the football hero will graduate and will go forth for a job. But he will not mention to the abrupt manager of the packing house that he once made 75 yards against Minnesota with four men hanging to his legs. He will not exact, conceal it, but it will not occur to him to take out this fact and stun a hundred captains of industry with it.

Still later he will run for village constable, in a far off region, and his battle cry will not be "Hold 'em Yale" or "Bat 'em Chicago." It will be "Votes for Women" or "Hello Bill!"

The country is full of former football heroes, but they do not stick out over the landscape like Pike's Peak. Some of them are in Congress, but none of them are pitching hay or holding onto some good comfortable, unexciting job with both hands. It is great fun being a football hero, and said hero should enjoy it while he may. For if he puts off his enjoyment until next year a rude and forgetful country will ask for his card and will read it with a slightly puzzled air.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early.

It's a mighty good thing in this hustling age of ours to look backward now and then in order that we may look forward with greater hope and courage.

Thanksgiving is, and should be, one of our most important National events for it brings us back, in memory, to the very foundation stones of our National policy.

We recall the principles which carried those men of indomitable courage to the bleak New England shores in search of a greater freedom; we review with pride their struggles to build so perfectly as to withstand the storms of doubt, discouragement and criticism of nearly 300 years.

And today in big successful businesses, you will find those same sturdy, old fashioned principles uppermost. You will find honesty, pure and simple, dominating every transaction; you will find truthfulness and straightforward open-above-board methods being used in every trade-winning, success-bringing effort.

For these things this live store, the men in it and the men behind it are thankful. We realize that we are right in building our business along these lines, in associating ourselves with an institution such as

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.
The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns, fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper, and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientific-ally trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 75c a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.
